What's new in version 2.13 Final?

As usual, many bug fixes but a 2 cool features and a security fix. Because of this security fix, we STRONGLY recommend that everyone using any older version of SmartSection upgrade to this new release !

[adsense]8f2094c223bafef17f88e17668f3cff0[/adsense]So the cool things now ! As requested by many of you, it is now possible to upload a file linked to an article directly within the creation/edit form from the administrative section .

. It is yet only available on admin side but rest assure that next release will also have this feature within the user side as well !

Also, in the previous official release, we introduced Flash integration. Any Flash file uploaded within an article will be automatically displayed at the end of the article, as embedded in it ! So the Flash will actually displays !

But now, you can even decide where you want it within the article. It needs an extra step, but it's easily done :

1- Create an article and within the File upload textbox, click the Browse button to select a valid Flash file on your computer.

2- Save the article. The Flash is now uploaded on the server and linked to this article.

3- Re-edit that article and locate the file ID at the bottom of the article :

4- Then, wherever you want in the article, insert this tag : [flash-12], where 12 is the ID of the uploaded file.

5- Save he article. The Flash will automatically be displayed at the place you chose !
